The Constitution.

Ahead The Constitution is recognized as quoted from the leading southern journals—the news and vehicle of the best and most reliable information. The columns are compiled for the latest news, the freshest comment, and for all matters of special and current interest. The Constitution contains in this its original form, that is to say, after Georgia passed, and this particular legislation will be imposed upon time to time. All its facilities for gathering the latest news from all parts of the country will be enlarged and augmented. The Constitution is bold, characteristic, and forcible, and its contributions to the drift of current discussion, its humorous and satirical paragraphs, are copied from one end of the country to the other. It is always to be the bright and the leading organ of the South, and in particular to its readers informed of the drift of current discussion by liberal but concise quotations from all its contemporaries. It aims to do more than ever deserve to be known as "the leading southern journal."

The weekly reports of The Constitution are complete, more carefully edited and more dignified than any of any southern newspaper, and no effort is spared to lay before the commercial community an accurate reproduction of the various trades of both well as the latest quotations from the leading commercial journals to render itself indispensable to every business man within the range of its circulation.

The advertisements of The Constitution offer the most profitable field to be found in the south. Advertisers have a right to know what purpose they are investing their money, and no effort is spared to lay before the commercial community an accurate reproduction of the various trades of both well as the latest quotations from the leading commercial journals to render itself indispensable to every business man within the range of its circulation.

No Georgia bills were introduced last Monday. Mr. Stephens ineffectually tried to have a day set apart for the consideration of bills relating to public buildings, but he did succeed in having the bill for the relief of George W. H. Webb taken up. Mr. Webb was an assistant to a master in Mexico, and he claims a balance of pay amounting to about $130. The bill was passed. During the evening session Mr. Speer was called to the chair as speaker pro tempore. Mr. Persons addressed the house upon the subject of the commission to investigate the ravages of the cotton worm. His remarks doubtless appear in the Record of May 12th.

THE SOUTHERN CULTIVATOR.
This, the best and most reliable and popular agricultural and agricultural journal in the South, is the organ for the printing establishment of The Constitution. It is still edited by W. L. Jones, and is devoted to the best interests of the farmers of the south. It is at reduced rates with Wednesdays' Times.

Entered as second-class matter, at the Atlanta post-office, December 11, 1859.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 14, 1860.

Nowell, the pedestrian, offers to walk against the world; and he is entitled to the thanks of all America for insisting that the next contest shall take place in England.

The Cincinnati Gazette states that freight rates from its city to all points in Georgia were, on Tuesday last, reduced in consequence of the new tariff sheet adopted by the railroad commission of Georgia. And yet there are people who say that the commission is a nuisance and a delusion.

The strike at Blackburn is extending, with every prospect of including all the operatives of that section. They demand an increase of pay to the extent of five per cent only, and are not imperative or bitter in making this demand. It is thought that the disagreement can be satisfactorily arranged, and if not, that the strikers will not be able to maintain their position.

The report of Commissioner Hender- son for the month of April is full of interesting matter. The area of corn is put at about two per cent less than that of last year, while there is an increase in the areas of oats and wheat. The oat crop is, however, suffering from rust to the extent of 25 per cent, and the wheat crop is not as promising as it was during the winter. The increase over last year in the acreage of cotton is put at 11 per cent, and about 16 per cent more commercial fertilizers have been used. The condition of the plant is generally good, and altogether the crop outlook is as promising as it usually is at this season of the year.

The ways and means committee have agreed to report a resolution in favor of the adjournment of congress on the 31st of May; but it is plain that the important business now pending before the two houses will not admit of an adjournment at that time. The members are said to transact the business that the people need in the way of legislation—not to attend political conventions or to intrigue for nominations. The little relief bill reported by the ways and means committee is an example of the business we speak of. All such business should be disposed of before a separation for the session takes place. Some of the members are altogether too anxious to abandon their posts.

The Open-House Accident.

The people of Atlanta feel very much as does one who has slipped to the edge of a precipice and finds an unexpected foothold in a friend's twig or clod of earth—they have had a narrow escape from an appalling disaster; and the duty of The Constitution to the public calls for something more than a mere recital of the facts and circumstances of the case. It is not necessary to dwell upon what might have occurred, for all appreciate the dreadful possibilities. Nor do we propose to call the attention of the public to the fact that the dressing-rooms of the opera-house are supplied with globes gas-lights, for that is a want that can easily be supplied. But we do protest against any further recurrence of amateur entertainments in which children or very young people are expected to dress and assume spectacular parts. When spectacular plays are presented by professional people, trained servants are always at hand to prevent accidents, and to render them harmless if they occur; but in an amateur entertainment there is no such provision, although the actors are unused to the proper management of their tinsel dresses, and do not know how to entertain fire or other accident when it comes. In a word, amateur entertainments of this nature are hazardous in the extreme, and in the face of the sad occurrence of Wednesday it certainly is not necessary to do more than put the bare statement before the people of Atlanta. Such entertainments should be forbidden hereafter, if not by ordinance, then by public sentiment; and if the law should be extended so as to cover all amateur entertainments, it is the firm belief of The Constitution that few mourners would be found among the spectators going portion of our population.

Georgia in Congress.

Senator HUll presented, on Tuesday of last week, the petition of the Atlanta rolling-mill company, manufacturers of rails and bar-iron, employing 400 hands and of the Ridge Valley iron works, manufacturers of pig-iron, employing 100 hands, praying for the appointment of a tariff commission in accordance with the terms of the Tanton Bill. In the house Mr. Felton presented the petition of the merchants of Atlanta that will be placed on the free list. Mr. Speer presented the petition of William Thompson, who wants a pension and bounty land.

During the debate in the house, on Wednesday of last week, over the item in the free list appropriation bill, for fast mail, Mr. Cook sent up a copy of The Constitution containing an editorial on the subject then before the house. The article was read, and Mr. Page, of California, took occasion to say that it was to be the brightest and the best, original article in the paper. In particular, to let the news impartially and fully, and to let its readers informed of the drift of current discussion by liberal but concise quotations from all its contemporaries. It aims to do more than ever deserve to be known as "the leading southern journal."

The weekly reports of The Constitution are complete, more carefully edited and more dignified than any of any southern newspaper, and no effort is spared to lay before the commercial community an accurate reproduction of the various trades of both well as the latest quotations from the leading commercial journals to render itself indispensable to every business man within the range of its circulation.

RAILROAD OPPOSITION TO THE COMMISSION.
BROTHER-IN-LAW MOUTOUR is convinced that the New York Times did wrong in exposing him at such a time and in such a place.

Mr. MONTGOMERY BLAIR will please step forward and choose his office.

HOWARD CANNON, of the New York Times, has in his annual appearance, this year, a full account of the great railroad strike in the south.

Mr. CANNON is still edited by W. L. Jones, and is devoted to the best interests of the farmers of the south. It is at reduced rates with Wednesdays' Times.

An exact replica of a similar coincidence which occurred recently in Marion county: A negro on Mr. Wall Hill's plantation was plowing a contrary mule, which became unruly and would go his own way, and in doing so went into an old well in the field about thirty feet deep, killing him instantly. On the same day and near the same time of day, Mr. Dave Clegg, on a neighboring plantation, was plowing a valuable horse, and while plowing around an old well in the field, the well gave way into the bottom plowstock and the horse sank in, but took him all out of sight. Mr. Clegg says it was with difficulty that he escaped the same fate.
